came to us; he loved us that much. There is-n't a soul he's un-wil-ling to touch; No life so dark came to earth; he lived as a man. There's no earth-ly care he can't un-der-stand; No earth-ly pain lived like us, ac-quain-ted with grief. To those who be-lieve he of-fers re-lief. He o-pens eyes;
